

Hello:

Your decision to kill all wildlife to “protect” private ranchers is abominable! The use of deadly poisons, poison bombs and random death systems kill randomly. They kill more than the “wildlife”. Use your brains and get out of the death system.

There are non-lethal methods that actually work much better and don’t kill everything.

Pets and humans are sometimes victims of these senseless methods of controlling nature. What about the ranchers? Should they be controlling their livestock and protecting them without resorting to this method of death and destruction? Should the taxpayers be footing the bill of death?

I understand many people in urban settings are not represented by these disastrous decisions because we are in the City. However, the indiscriminate killing of our wildlife affects us all.

Stop this insanity now!

Thank you.

Joan Hasselgren