(b) Following a comprehensive siting study, a potential site of up to 17 acres was identified for a transfer station located within a portion of the Jackson Demonstration State Forest, on its northern boundary.

(c) The State Board of Forestry and Fire Protection adopted a resolution on April 7, 2010, that stated that transfer of this site to the city or county would not cause significant adverse programmatic impacts to the Jackson Demonstration State Forest.

(d) The Department of Forestry and Fire Protection, on behalf of the state, may be compensated for loss of the up to 17-acre site by transfer from the Department of Parks and Recreation, on behalf of the state of 12.6 acres in Russian Gulch State Park, which is separated from the remainder of the state park by a county road.

(e) The Department of Parks and Recreation, on behalf of the state, may be compensated, in turn, for loss of the 12.6 acres in Russian Gulch State Park specified in subdivision (d) by the grant of a restrictive covenant on 60 acres of city and county property on the north boundary of the state park, which is currently a closed landfill and small volume transfer station, whose continued operation causes undesirable impacts on the state park, and by an option to buy 35 acres of the city and county property.

(f) The interests and welfare of the state will be advanced by granting an option to the city and the county to take title to the Jackson Demonstration State Forest site, subject to the additional terms described in subdivisions (d) and (e), if the city and the county complete a site selection process and environmental review that finds that this site shall be the selected alternative.
