Interests & Experiences

Special Expertise, Experience, or Interest in This Area?

My name is Jade, I work for the Potter Valley Tribe in their Environmental Office and am working on my Master's in Environmental Management through Western Colorado University. Last spring, a workgroup from Western's MEM program developed a Climate Change Mitigation and Adaptation Plan for Gunnison County, Colorado. We divided into sectors, much like the MCCAAC plan to divide into focus groups, and spent the next months developing our ideas and eventually presenting to the County and stakeholders in May. I learned a lot from the experience and was interested in moving towards actions on the local level here in Mendocino. From working for Potter Valley Tribe, networking with surrounding tribes, and reflecting on my passions, I've found my specific entry point into climate change action lies in reversing biodiversity loss through Indigenous stewardship and revival of socio-environmental connection. On a broader scale, I'm interested in directing community-led climate change action and community-led action in general. There are many places to begin and continue climate change action, but bringing together people from a variety of backgrounds to develop a robust plan is where I can be of service. You can look over my resume for a list of the environmental-related training and workshops I've participated in in the past few years. In short, I should be considered for the committee as I have experience in developing a county-wide plan as well as education on where climate change intersects with the livelihoods of indigenous peoples.
