

I just rode the Coast Trail from the Cliff House to Glass Beach parking lot and back, 3 miles each way.

HUGE social distancing and 90% wearing masks.

90% of the traffic is near the Glass Beach parking lot and within ½ mile - even there HUGE spacing between folks and 90% masks.

I ride that route about every other day and I saw a much larger % of masks today than ever?

The protocols in place at the Fort Bragg Farmer's Market are WAY over done, but I did not say anything and I behaved myself. Nor will I go back.

The coast seems to be doing just fine, folks are largely older over here and FAR more careful it seems.

My experience with my RV Park is all good so far. I have the required notices posted but also a notice requesting guests to be nice to working folks around here.

I heard today that the 19 counties getting cut backs contain 70% of the Cal population. Sometimes it's good to be a small remote county I guess

thank you
