

Dear BOS,

I would like to advocate for a fine of between $50-100, even as low as $25. I think that giving out tickets/ fines liberally to violators will be the best way to get the message across. Tie the fine to their car registration, like a parking ticket.

The virus is here and the only way to get rid of it is for everyone to buckle down. One hundred years ago, there were the same arguments against wearing masks, but we know they work.

It is the law in the current situation, it is no different than requiring shoes and shirts for service.

How stubborn would one have to be to risk getting a $50 ticket when they only have to wear a $1.00 mask?

Thank you,
