

So much for the shelter in place! Why have all the motels, campgrounds, and bed-and-breakfast been allowed to open up and run at full occupancy? Yet the locals have been basically pushed aside. No one's walking around with facial covering for the most part. I've noticed that locals do but not The people coming over from Sacramento in other areas. Actually seen confrontations when it's brought to their attention. Another interesting fact is that there is still a lot of small businesses in Fort Bragg that are shut down due to the supposed COVID-19 epidemic. Something seems a little off balance here
