

I wanted to thank you guys for listening to the will of the voters and finally coming to your senses about personal growth . The state of california voted to have 6 plants on personal growth per person and making it so only people with 10 acres or more can grow their medicine is just barbaric as well as it discriminates against the poor folks who need to grow their medicine for pennies on the dollar . Asking a person who is in chronic pain to spend hundreds of dollars a week on edibles just so they can make it through the day, when , if they had six plants they could make enough medicine to last all year for the same cost is ridiculous. I am really glad to see the new faces on the board and even happier to see the board move away from the xenophobic position it has taken on cannabis in the past. Our bodies have an endocannabinoid system which is a biological system within our bodies like our digestive system or nervous system. The science is in, the Us government has patents on various cannabinoids and denying the people the right given to them by california to self medicate is absolutely ignorant. Please educate yourself on our endocannabinoid system, below is a link to a very basic understanding.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Endocannabinoid_system thanks again

dan