

Hi

I am in support of a resolution to the governor evaluating JDSF management plan and scientific research (lack there of). I think it is important that the county supervisors take this on so state representatives will pay attention and directional change. I don't want to diminish the importance of some of the science that has come out of Jdsf; such as, the watershed studies (Caspar), which were vital to the current force practice rules; however, I think there is a fairness that needs to be made regarding timber harvesting, lack of science and the future direction of JDSF. I also think it's very important the county acknowledge there is little second growth redwood left in our county with almost all currently private property; therefore, state owned property is currently the only reserves of functional and recovering habitat for redwood communities.

I support this resolution.
