GEO provides a true evidence-based supervision program meeting all AB109 Community Supervision requirements. GEO's program structure includes and incorporates all of our requirements necessary for our AB109 programs including, but not limited to: risk and needs assessments, cognitive behavioral programs (individual and group), behavioral change plans, self-directed journaling, anger management, substance abuse testing and treatment, graduated sanctions and rewards, intensive probation supervision, employment and training assistance, case management, after care, outcomes tracking and program evaluation. GEO also provides in-custody reentry programming for the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR).
